Probably. I spoke to Richard Jeng this afternoon and he agrees that Upper Animas doesn't fit the bill. Nor US Mag. But if we have something that fits we should go for it.

I agree. Do we need to respond to Martin?

Andrea,

OSRTI has typically pigeon-holed $10M out of the RA AOA for Northridge to use (If needed) for enforcement fairness/leverage for RA's that have been through the Priority Panel process. In many years the money doesn't get expended and it goes, all or in part, back into the kitty for fund-lead RA's. I'm not sure that it's been used for RI work before, but the priority clearly is for RA's. I don't think it makes a lot of sense to target a bunch of potential sites for these funds, unless they clearly meet the criteria and we really have a good case to make. And I don't think that Upper Cement Creek would be a good candidate at this point. US Mag doesn't meet the criteria in any way I can see.

Let me know what you think.

I wonder whether Animas/Silverton might fit in this category if we get to go forth with our strategy? Do we have others that you are planning to ID? USM???

Don't recall seeing this last year so I assume ECEJ lead with support from Bill, David, Russ as needed?
